

A black and white photograph of a residential street. On the left, there are several houses, including a prominent two-story house with a porch. The street is lined with utility poles and power lines. In the distance, a vintage car is parked on the right side of the road. The sky is overcast.

Ne pas reproduire sans permission