

An aerial black and white photograph of a university campus. In the foreground, a large waterfall cascades down a rocky ledge. Behind the waterfall, a large, rectangular fenced-in area, possibly a sports field or arena, is visible. The campus includes several buildings, some with gabled roofs, and a large, long building that could be a library or administrative center. In the background, a wide lake stretches across the horizon under a clear sky. The text "Ne pas reproduire sans permission" is overlaid in the center of the image.
